ONE CENT

CALL WILL AFFECT MEN IN THE 38TH SERIAL HUNDRED

Examinations May Begin on the 11th, and Not Later Than 12th

SECOND DRAFT TO COME SOON

The calling of four hundred additional men by the exemption board of the Fifth District, means that men whose numbers are in the thirty-eighth serial hundred will be summoned for examination during the coming week. The former call of 500 men reached into the thirty-eighth serial hundred, and as each serial hundred will affect 50 per cent of the numbers in this district, it will be seen that it will be necessary for the Board to reach up well into the thirties in order to get the necessary 400 men. If the notices were all mailed in time the examination of these additional men will begin next Tuesday, and at least not later than Wednesday.

In this connection it is intimated that another call will be called some time this winter, possibly before Christmas. By October 10 the government expects to have 1,500,000 men under arms. As soon as this number is reached, the call will be issued for an additional 500,000 men, to report at cantonments for training early in the coming year. At the present time, there are over one million men under arms. When the first draft is completed, there will be at least 1,500,000 men, and with an additional 500,000 there will be 2,000,000 men enlisted in the military arm of the country by next June. From this time forth large contingents of men will be on the way to training camps in different parts of the country, it being the object of the government to move about 6,000 men daily until all of the selected men have been mobilized in the various camps.

TENTH REGIMENT IS ON THE WAY TO CAMP AT AUGUSTA, GA.

All Companies of the Tenth Regiment, stationed in different towns in southwestern Pennsylvania, left their armories Friday night, on the way to Camp Hancock, Augusta, Ga. All of the Companies left for the South with full ranks, and expect to reach their destination some time early in the week. Their quarters are all ready for them, and while the camp is not complete in the way of construction work, yet the men will not suffer for lack of accommodations. If the trains are on schedule the various sections should reach Washington City some time this afternoon or early evening.

JITNEY DRIVERS DRAW A HEAVY FINE

The Public Service Commission, in a decision handed down at Harrisburg on Friday, ordered a fine of $100 to be imposed on George Watson, of Sharpsville, and James Piegaskie, of Sharon, jitney bus operators, for disregarding the orders of the commission not to operate their busses without first obtaining a certificate of public convenience from the commission.

DISTILLERIES CLOSE TONIGHT

"Taps" Sounded on the Making of Whiskey During the War

PRICES STEADILY ADVANCING

At 11 o'clock tonight by an act of Congress, the manufacture of distilled spirits other than grape brandy to be used in the rectification of sweet wines, will cease in the United States. In the twenty-third internal revenue district, of which Pittsburgh is the headquarters, 56 distilleries will be affected. This district includes all of western Pennsylvania. A large number of men, it is reported, will be thrown out of work by the operation of this prohibitory law.

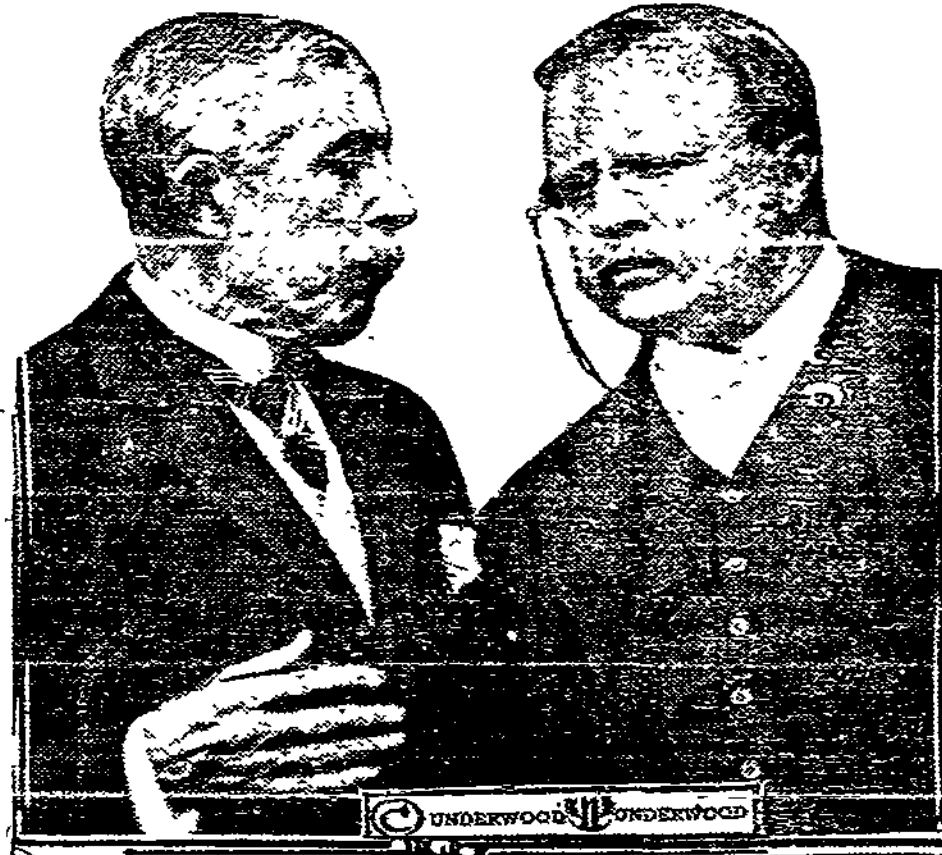

As the statute does not prohibit the withdrawal of spirits from bond, there has been an increase in the volume of production since the enactment of the law, with the result that large stocks on hand in warehouses indicate there will be no appreciable shortage of whiskey for some time to come. Locally, the big distillery at Gibsonville will be affected, and tonight at the appointed hour, will close down for an indefinite period. Whether there will be any change in the distillery, or whether it will again operate, are questions for the future to determine.

In the meantime those who feel they must have a "nip" of the ardent will have to pay more money for the luxury, as there has been a heavy advance in all grades of these "wet" goods, with a prospect of more to come.

Head of Belgian Mission in U. S., Tells Col. Roosevelt of His Country's Woes

The sympathetic ties that bind Belgium and the United States could hardly have been cemented until Col. Roosevelt, greatest of living Americans, met the members of the Belgian Mission now in the United States. The former President is known throughout Europe for his sturdy characteristics. Baron Moncheur, head of the mission, paid a visit to Col. Roosevelt at Oyster Bay recently, and told the story of Belgium's suffering. The photographer snapped the picture as the two men were standing together. The Colonel was moved by sympathy and said: "We must have peace that is just and no peace can be just which does not give Belgium heavy indemnity for her great losses."

DONORA MINISTERS IN MORAL CAMPAIGN

At a meeting of the Donora ministerial association, held Tuesday evening last, action was taken with a view of having a moral clean-up in the steel town. This movement will include the closing of all stores on Sunday, and the elimination of all gambling devices, such as punch boards. Carnivals held adjacent to the town also came up for discussion and for action to suppress them. The ministers propose to put the matter up to the Constables of Donora and Carroll township for action. At this meeting the ministers prepared a letter, which they addressed to Constable Titus, of Donora, in which they stated the ministerium expected him to do more for the future than in the past. They further informed him they would make an inspection of his quarterly returns to court, and if necessary bring complaints against the officer if his returns do not correctly represent the conditions that prevail in that borough. The Constable of Carroll township will also be told that it is his duty to suppress the gambling and various exhibitions against which there are statutory enactments, and if this is done they believe there will be no carnivals in that immediate section.

MONESSEN WOMAN WAS FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER

Mrs. Helen Parish, aged 35, of Monessen, was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter by a jury at Greensburg, on Friday, on evidence which the jury heard charging that she killed her husband on August 4, while he was sleeping. The trial began Wednesday and the case was given to the jury Thursday night. The wife's defense was that Parish had frequently threatened her life and that she killed him to prevent his carrying out the threats. Mrs. Parish is the mother of three children.

INDUSTRIAL PLANTS FEAR A SEVERE SHORTAGE OF COAL

LOCAL COAL COMPANY IS INCORPORATED

The Fallsfield Coal company of Charleroi, with a capital stock of $25,000, was incorporated in Harrisburg on Friday. The incorporators are L. P. Flickinger, G. E. Moody and R. S. Moody, all of Charleroi.

Shipments to the Lake Taking a Greater Portion of Fuel Supply

SITUATION BECOMING ACUTE

Notwithstanding the fact that large industrial plants, as well as responsible brokerage houses have been advertising extensively during the past couple of weeks for coal at $2 per ton rate, there is a possibility that manufacturers will find themselves short of an adequate fuel supply by the 15th of this month.

The Duquesne Light company, which furnishes Pittsburgh with a large portion of its electricity, has issued a statement to the effect that it is unable, on account of the scarcity of cars, to have its contracts for coal filled at the mines, and consequently will be forced to curtail its service. Such curtailment will consist in the shutting off of power to its customers one or two days a week in rotation. Customers are given the privilege of saying which days they prefer to remain idle.

This condition of affairs has been brought about by the ruling of the priority board, which has charge of the distribution of cars in the Pittsburgh district, which compels all railroads to give 100 per cent car supply to mines for lake shipments. It is produced at the $2 rate, and has been to practically close down a large number of mines which are able to produce from 50 to 100 tons of coal per day. Many of these mines have contracts at better prices than the $2 rate, and their customers would be only too glad to get the coal, but it is practically impossible to get hold of commercial cars. Men who have been operating in the Charleroi community on a small scale have practically ceased their efforts, preferring to wait the turn of developments. They claim they cannot make money at the $2 rate, and prefer to keep the coal in the hill rather than place it on the market at the reduced rate.

If commercial cars were available for local trade, all of the industries in the Pittsburgh district could be taken care of, and there would be no necessity for a restriction of industrial operations. Bannister Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Roberts, of Charleroi, expects to leave for the South today with the Oil City Company of the Sixteenth Regiment, which has been ordered to Camp Hancock for training. Mr. Roberts is a bugler in the Company. Mrs. V. P. Stewart announces her Fall Millinery opening Saturday, September 8.

WILL ENTERTAIN SELECTED MEN

Soldier's Life in Camp will Have Some Play as Well as Work

TO BE IN CAMP ALL WINTER

The second contingent of drafted men from western Pennsylvania arrived at Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, Ohio, Friday evening, the arrivals on that day raising the number present at this campment to over 1,500. This number will be rapidly increasing.

Major General Glenn, stated Friday morning that the men of the new National Army will be held in camps until next spring. He explained the men will have to be made over entirely. They will be subjected to a new mode of living, eating new foods, sleeping under new regulations and working under new conditions. This intensive training will be kept up all fall and winter, but with all of this work in prospect, it is proposed that the men be entertained. Athletic sports and other features of entertaining will keep the men in good spirits, these diversions being in charge of competent directors. Base ball will feature as long as the weather will permit, after which football will be taken up under direction of competent coaches.

A FITTING ANSWER

The insufferable Hohenzollern insult which prompted the Kaiser to notify Ambassador Gerard that after he had finished the conquest of Europe he would "stand no nonsense from America" is fittingly answered in the following extracts from President Wilson's reply through Secretary Lansing to the Pope's appeal for peace on the basis of a return to the status quo ante bellum:

"The object of this war is to deliver the free peoples of the world from the menace and the actual power of a vast military establishment controlled by an irresponsible government which, having secretly planned to dominate the world, proceeded to carry the plan out without regard either to the sacred obligations of treaty or the long established practices and long cherished principles of international action and honor; which desires its own time for the war; delivered its blow fiercely and suddenly, stopped at no barrier either of law or of mercy; swept a whole continent within the tides of blood—not the blood of soldiers only, but the blood of innocent women and children; also of the helpless poor; and now stands triumphant but not defeated, the enemy of four-fifths of the world. To deal with such a power by way of peace negotiations proposed by his Holiness the Pope would, so far as we can see, involve a recoupation of its strength and a renewal of its policy. The American people have suffered intolerable wrongs at the hands of the Imperial German government. We have seen that the intolerable wrongs done in this war by the German government ought to be repaired. We can not take the word of the present rulers of Germany as a guarantee of anything that is to endure, unless explicitly supported by such conclusive evidence of the will and purpose of the German people themselves as the other peoples of the world would be justified in accepting."

That is to say, the United States will not consent even to discuss peace with the brutal Hohenzollerns and the selfish war lords whose word "no man or nation could now depend on." The peace at the proper time must be made with the self-asserting German people themselves. Such is the fitting answer to the insolent and arrogant Hohenzollerns who are virtually notified that their world-menacing rule must end and that their haughty dynasty itself is doomed.
There is no need to speculate as to the effect in Berlin of this official announcement from Washington. One can almost see the sudden and wild commotion in the Imperial and higher militarist circles. One can almost hear the fierce cries of rage and the furious abandonment of "Gott strafe England" for a very much foaming "Gott strafe Amerika!" The war is as never before.

THE WHEAT MARKET

It is only necessary to glance over the columns of figures showing the speculations for wheat during the last few years to become convinced that there has been a little stability about the price of the cereal in peace as there has been in war. Weather conditions, the state of the growing crop at home and abroad, average plentiful harvest prospects, international complications, political excitement and to some extent the speculation, there and here, have produced rather than the law of supply and demand have produced these fluctuations on prices which have made trading in wheat futures so attractive to the speculator. Utterly regardless of the area planted in wheat the world over, and utterly regardless of the yield, given a sufficient amount of money to carry through a deal, could buy or bear the market as to make the speculative overturn run into millions of dollars within a few hours.

In the past forty years the price of wheat has ranged from 48¢ to $2 a bushel. It would "bulge" and "dump" according to the disposition of the "pit", as much as $1 in a single season.

Speculation within the past few months would have placed the price of wheat at such a point as to have deprived millions of people of flour and bread, had not the government interposed and prevented further trading in futures. We are now operating under the Food Control Act, and the President, under its provisions, has fixed the price of wheat for 1917 at $2.20 per bushel. One certain result of the government fixing the price will be the fact that the farmer will know what to expect in the market; it will stimulate him to plant a greater acreage, and to place his product on the market as soon as possible, rather than hoard it. It will make no difference how long the farmer should hold, the price will be just the same, and in this respect the public is ultimately bound to profit. A year's time should demonstrate the advisability of government price fixing.

The daily Official Bulletin, Washington, "published by order of the President by the committee on public information," asks across the bottom of many of its pages: "Are you saving your money to invest in the second issue of the Liberty Loan?" No doubt the question will be answered satisfactorily when the time comes.

According to the news from Chicago, Mayor Thompson expects to run for President on an anti-war platform. That would explain a few things. But perhaps he really means President of Germany—which, though lacking in even the ghost of a chance, would be the more hopeful proposition of the two.

A request from the War Emergency Unit to motor car owners reads:
"When you see a man in uniform, give him a lift." Some civilians give him only roasted peanuts or pie, according to the sex of the giver, but nearly everybody wants to do something for the boys in khaki, that brown uniform, with all it involves making something out of even the most ordinary young fellow.

It is stated that a very large proportion of actors have returned to Pittsburg after visiting with Mrs. P. J. Connelly of McKean avenue.

Frank Riva has returned from a visit to Cleveland and has doubtless distinct enunciation and a well developed voice are greatly to be desired in a military commander, and stage training makes sure of these qualifications.

GARDEN COLUMN

By National Emergency Food
Garden Commission

"Every pound of vegetables properly put up for future use, every jar of fruit preserved, add that much to our insurance of victory."—President Wilson.

Fruit Pastes.

As garnishing on creams, custards, large cakes, etc., there is nothing quite so wholesome as fruit pastes, says today's bulletin of the National Emergency Food Garden Commission, which is working with this paper to conserve the food supply of the country.

In making apple paste, the bulletin says use one-half pound of powdered sugar to one pound of apple pulp, weighed after fruit is rubbed through a sieve. Cut the apples into quarters, remove flower, stem and core. Put fruit into cold water until it is ready to be cooked. Boil tender under cover and over a very low fire in order not to scorch. Rub the tender apples through a coarse sieve, weigh and put into the kettle to be cooked with the sugar under constant stirring until it is rather firm. It can be varied in taste by the aid of different additions, as, for instance, vanilla, peppermint or orange flavor, or cooked with either finely cut citron or finely cut lemon peel.

The paste is poured out into a half-inch layer on flat dishes, marble or glass slabs, which are first rubbed with a cloth dipped in a good salad oil. The dishes are then exposed to draft for a couple of days, after which the paste is cut into figures. If the paste is well boiled down it is dried more easily. (Many small forms for cutting the paste can be found on the market). The cut paste is placed on the paper, sprinkled with crystallized sugar or common granulated sugar.
Then let it stand a couple of days exposed to draft, is dipped in crystallized sugar and packed in a tin or wooden box, lined with parchment paper and with layers of the same paper placed between the layers of paste.

Other fruit pastes can be made of cherries, plums and other fruits.

FIGHT OFF WORRY.

Do Not Waste Nervous Strength and Energy in Useless Fretting.

The immediate cause of neuralgia is poison in the blood. Therefore our object is to keep the blood pure and healthy, as it is only when the blood is poor that the neuralgia poisons develop in it. Poor blood is caused by lack of sleep, lack of fresh air, improper food and overfatigue, by too little exercise and by mental worry.

Nothing is easier to say than "Don't worry" and few things so difficult to carry out. But by "don't worry" the doctors mean do not waste valuable nervous strength and energy in fretting over things beyond your control.
Make a point of putting all anxiety from you during meals and, above all, when you go to bed. Train yourself to think of something cheerful as you try to go to sleep. Otherwise your sleep will be harassed and fitful and will do you very little good.

He was a wise man who made it a rule to think of nothing disagreeable after 10 o'clock at night. He at any rate could never have been a sufferer from neuralgia.

Keep up the general tone of the nervous system and you will have little difficulty in keeping off nervous ailments, notably neuralgia.—London Mail.

MADE MALTA A GARDEN.

The Island Was Once Merely a Rock in the Mediterranean.

What Malta was like before the Maltese found it one cannot imagine.
Presumably there was some soil somewhere, hidden among the little valleys that scar the golden rock. But there was very little soil. Most of the island must have been just plain rock, with nothing in particular to recommend it.

But somewhere in the dawn of history there came an industrious, ingenious race and proceeded to make the best of it. They have been doing that all down the centuries, till now they have reduced it to a fine art, and the barren rock is a garden from end to end.

They realized, those clever Maltese, that although they might not have earth enough to grow their food, there were plenty of people who had enough and to spare. So they sent their ships aboard, and the ships came back loaded with just plain earth. This earth they took and spread on the ledges of their rocks and sowed their seed and reaped their harvests and prospered exceedingly, till now fruits and flowers might be a fitting name for the island.

Her View of It, an Interesting Study in the History of the Island.

In 1864 the list had grown to 114,000.
Noah had died in the meantime, but his heirs and assigns continued his work.
In 1890 a total of 175,000 words were listed. Since then the number has more than doubled. It is now about 400,000.

Of course nobody could be expected to learn all those words, nor is it necessary. Whenever in your reading you come across a word the meaning of which is not entirely clear to you drop your book or newspaper, as the case may be, and consult the dictionary.
Don't delay. If you do probably you will never look the word up. It is surprising how many words one may add to one's vocabulary by this simple method.—New York Times.

An Egyptian Delicacy.

Every country has its own little delicacies, and Egypt is famous for its kabobs. The kabob is broiled meat, but it is broiled in so ridiculous a fashion as to be really funny. The peddler uses a little charcoal furnace something like that in use by our plumbers, in it he keeps up a small but hot fire.
Attached to the side of the furnace are a lot of iron skewers. When a customer approaches the hawker takes a small piece of meat, mutton or goat, the latter being the most popular, cuts it with a sharp knife into a long ribbon, winds it around the skewer and places it upon the charcoal fire. Some of the drippings are collected and, with a little salt and spice, make a pleasant sauce for the kabob when it is done.

The Pepper Vine.

The pepper vine grows best in a wooded valley where there is plenty of moisture and abundant foliage to protect it from the heat of the sun. It is given a rude sort of cultivation. The growers plant it, keeping the grass from its roots, and when the tree near which it is planted has no lower branches strings or poles are placed in proper position to enable the vine to climb the tree. It needs no further attention.

Bringing the Paradox Home.

"Pa, what's a paradox?"
"It is when the impossible happens."
"Then we had a paradox here this evening." Ma said you couldn't possibly be expected home before midnight because you had an excuse for stayin' downtown."

Wrecked.

"You refused me ten years ago."
"I remember," said the heiress. "You said it would wreck your life."
"It did. I have had to work for a living ever since."—Life.

sly thrown away!

INVESTING MONEY.

What One Bank Has to Say About Real Estate Mortgages.

The president of one of the numerous savings banks of New York city recently had occasion to resort to statistics to prove his contention that real estate mortgage investments made with intelligence, knowledge of conditions and conservatism were the safest form of investment. His request of clerks for figures brought forth the fact that in the last thirty years his bank had lent upon real estate security the enormous sum of $90,000,000 and that a loss of but $25,000 in round figures was incurred in this manipulation during all these years.

Thus the bank has invested of depository funds at the rate of $2,000,000 annually, receiving an average of 5 per cent, or $100,000, in interest and paying its depositors an average of 4 per cent, or $80,000, leaving a balance for the bank of $20,000 annually. Against this surplus there is the comparatively insignificant charge of $5,000 a year loss during a period of thirty years.

This record, significant of the not only safe but profitable business in mortgages, is that of one of the smaller banks in the savings group of New York city.—New York Post.

An Astronomical Mirror.

One of the most remarkable scientific instruments yet devised is that constructed by Professor R. W. Wood to aid the work of astronomers. This is an astronomical mirror, the reflecting surface of which is revolving mercury elaborately protected against vibrations, and it magnifies in proportion to the speed of its revolutions. A metal dish containing mercury and turning on bearings carries on its edge a series of magnets, encircling, but not touching them, is an iron ring. By motor power this ring is made to revolve upon bearings separate from those of the mercury container, but its magnets, attracting those on the contain-er's edge, cause the latter also to revolve. Centrifugal force compels the mercury to form a concave surface, perfect so long as free from jars. This apparatus is sunk in a well fourteen feet deep and set upon a solid foundation to eliminate all ordinary shocks.

Why the Owl Is a Night Bird.

Birds are often credited with bringing down fire from heaven. In Polynesia it was a red pigeon, in French folklore the wren. The tale runs that all the other birds except the owl contributed a single feather apiece to replace the scorched plumage of the wren, so as to keep it warm in the coming winter. For its ill nature the owl was condemned to eternal seclusion during the warm day and to perpetual suffering from cold during the night, and the other birds maintain the punishment by pestering it if it appears in sunshine.—London Lancet.

Reason For the Change.

"Your speeches are not as entertaining as they used to be."
"Well," replied Senator Sorghum, "maybe I'm improving. People nowadays are getting so thoughtful that you can't expect 'em to vote for you simply because you can make 'em laugh."—Washington Star.

Persistence.

He that hath the patience to attend small profits may quickly grow to thrive and purchase. They be easier to accomplish and come thicker. So he that from everything collects somewhat shall in time get a treasure of wisdom.—Owen Feltham.

Mother Gives Boys to American Army

No Spartan mother ever made a greater sacrifice than Mrs. Clem H.
Strickland, of Houston, Texas, who has offered on the altar of liberty and democracy five of her six sons. Mrs. Strickland is of direct German descent, but when it came time to choose between the Fatherland and America she made an- in terms that could not be mistaken. She urged her six boys to fight for their country—now her country. Now they are ready. The boys are shown in the picture in their uniforms. They are, from left to right: Tate, 19; Oscar, 25; Ohio, 23; Clem, 19, and Claude, 21. The youngest was too young to go, but he is ready, too.

Republicans Defend China's Liberty

China, wrangling for months with conflicting elements of democracy and monarchy, begins to see the light, as these soldiers of the Republican army prepare the way for a representative government of the people. They are shown here at Ma Chang, where, with other detachments, they have cut off the retreat of Chang Maun's soldiers. A corps of artillery is now covering the gates to Peking a short distance away. The Republican army is an efficient fighting unit.

WOMEN GIVE OUT

Housework is hard enough when healthy. Every Charleroi woman who is having backache, blue and nervous spells, dizzy headaches and kidney or bladder troubles, should be glad to heed this Charleroi woman's experience:

Mrs. D. F. Worthington, Second street, says: "I was troubled by backache for years. The pains were so intense at times it made me sick all over. I was always worse in the morning. Whenever I stopped a sharp pain darted through me and I could hardly catch my breath. Often it was just as though a knife were being stuck into me and I was tied all the time. I had rheumatic pains all through my body and my feet became swollen. I bought a couple of boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills at Piper Bros. Drug Store and they relieved me of all symptoms of the trouble. I now take Doan's Kidney Pills once in awhile and they always help me."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get

"BOG" OAK BEING USED FOR PICTURE FRAMES

C. B. Copeland, of Charleroi, brings to the Mail office a small piece of wood taken from a heavy timber, which did service for 76 years as a part of the foundation of Dam No. 1, in the Monongahela river at Pittsburg. It is what is known as "bog" oak, that is, from its long submer-sion in the water it had become thoroughly waterlogged, giving the wood a very dark appearance, but making it very hard. This wood is capable of a high polish, and some of it has been used in making table tops and picture frames. When repairs were being made at No. 1 a short time ago a few pieces of this timber were raised and which is now being utilized in the making of frames and small articles of furniture.

Naval Captains.

The saying runs that as soon as a Lieutenant is made a commander he begins to carry a stick, and as soon as a commander becomes a captain he "turns religious." For justification of the latter part of this assertion there exists the undoubted fact that naval captains are mostly serious minded men who give some thought to the greater things of life. Possibly their hours of loneliness may conduce to this frame of mind, though for the most part their leisure hours are given up to study of matters connected with their calling. One well known captain there was who used to hold prayer meetings, which any member of the ship's company could attend. "The minister, there are no rates to be picked up here," the captain would warn them before the meetings started, meaning that any one who came there hoping to curry favor and thus get promotion would be disappointed. And in this the captain was always as good as his word.—London Mail.

The First Fly Fishers.

Doubtless the reason why artificial flies were originally invented was because it was impossible to use the smaller and more delicate natural flies as baits on the hook. The first fly fisher cast his eyes about him in search of something that would answer as imitating the flies upon which the trout were feeding. Feathers were naturally the first materials thought of, and the old red cock's hackle was the first of all the artificial insects, the old, old Adam of them all. The breed has been increasing several hundred years and numbers 2,000 or more at the present day. Of salmon flies alone there are several hundred patterns. These belong to the lure order mostly, as do many of the large flies used for bass and trout. The little old red hackle remains a good fly to this day and is put upon bodies of many colors, peac-cock hair being perhaps its well liked as anything. Red wool is favored by many.—Forest and Stream.

Blunders by Novelists.

Novelists, even of eminence, are prone to make blunders. Sir Walter Besant in "For Faith and Freedom" wrote after the Ekkins had settled in Providence, "Barnaby soon grew tired of this quiet life and went on board a steamer bound for England, promising that we should hear from him." This was in 1686 or 1687, and the first steamer from America to England did not reach Liverpool till July, 1819.
Wilkie Collins also made numerous amazing blunders. In "The Duel in Herne Wood" he makes the story open with the receipt of a telegram, and the period is 1817, when twenty years had to elapse before the first telegraphic wire was laid. Three of the characters also talk of "taking the express train to London" in the face of the fact that the first railway to London was not opened till 1825.

Psychology of Sleep.

The psychology of sleep is a vast and little explored subject. Sleep deepens to trance, trance to death. Therefore in life, speaking somewhat paradoxically, sleep is most akin to death.
Whether the spirit is parted from the body and goes long journeys through space or whether it is in a state of one long dream, parts of which we are alone conscious of, is a matter for the Society of Psychological Research. Yet many of us have dreamed things, seen things or even spoken and heard things in sleep which we have seen, heard or spoken later on in reality. We can more or less follow the stages up to the final sleep of all, but here we must pause and, with Hamlet, in regard to the veil, "And in that sleep of death what dreams may come!"—London Globe.

A Minister of Magic.

In the course of an address delivered in London Canon Parfit of Bagdad said that what impressed native rulers in the east was the scrupulous honesty of the English officials. The sultan of Turkey on one occasion was watching a conjurer. The British ambassador, who was present, remarked that it was "wonderful."

"No," said the sultan, "not so wonderful as all that. I once had a minister of marine who swallowed a battle-ship—at least he had the money for it, and I've never seen the money or the ship!"

Knew Value of Money.

"That young chap you are going around with is a regular pinhead," stormed Bertha's father. "He doesn't even know the value of money!"
"Oh, yes, he does," said Bertha. "He says that he wouldn't give a plugged nickel for your opinion on anything!"— Puck.

The Lesser Evil.

"Insbman declared he would rather go to jail than pay his divorced wife alimony."
"Did she let him?"
"Yes, she said she'd much rather see him save his money behind bars than spend it over them."—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

The Spirit of the Times.

It is an age of artificial devices.
Rare, indeed, is the man, and rarer still the woman, in whose physical makeup there is not something false, either eyes or teeth or hair.—Atlantic.

No Chance.

Mrs. Jones—It's queer that baby doesn't talk. She's almost two years old and hasn't spoken a word yet.
Mr. Jones—I know, dear, but do you ever give baby a chance?

A sharp tongue is the only edged tool that grows keener with constant use.

BOYS ARE HELD JUVENILE COURT

Chief of police Aloright was called upon Friday afternoon to take four small boys to the detention rooms of the Washington county court, there to await a disposition of their cases before one of the Judges of the county juvenile court. The boys ranged in ages from 11 to 15 years, and it was in evidence at the hearing held Friday morning that all of them had been anything but models. Two of the younger boys, aged respectfully 11 and 12 years, had been seen frequently on the streets at 2 o'clock in the morning, loitering and prowling in the vicinity of stores, while in other cases the older boys had been making raids on a number of gardens.
All of the boys are of foreign parentage, and all of them had been before juvenile court before. Now they have been returned to the state's officers, and it is likely they will be sent to a training school, where a more rigid form of discipline will be applied, in the hope that the boys may be saved to the state, in order that they may make better citizens.

WILL RIGIDLY EXAMINE ALL EXEMPTION CLAIMS

The exemption board of the Fifth district announced today that examinations for the 400 additional men would be held at Donora on Thursday and Friday of next week. Two hundred men will be examined each day.
The board expects to meet at Donora on Tuesday, at which time it is expected that D. M. McCloskey, Esq., government representative, will be present to advise with the Board on exemption claims. It is intimated that all exemption-claims will be rigidly examined, and that all registrants will be compelled to present the best of reasons in order to exempt from military service. The large number of men who have already filed claims has caused government representatives to urge that only cases of the greatest merit be allowed.

MONESSEN TO HONOR ITS SELECTED MEN

Monessen will have a parade and demonstration Sunday afternoon in honor of the 15 men and 5 alternates who will leave that city on the Lake Erie 4:10 train for Camp Lee, at Petersburg, Va. The parade will form at 2:30 o'clock, and after traversing the principal streets of the city, a meeting will be held at the corner of Schoonmaker avenue and Seventh street, where addresses will be made by J. Howard Kelly, of the exemption board, and H. E. Gress, superintendent of the public schools.
The meeting will be followed by leave-takings, after which the men will go to the railroad station to embark for Pittsburg. At the later point they will join other units which will also be on the way to the cantonment in the south.

WELL KNOWN CITIZEN OF LOCK FOUR IS DEAD

Daniel Morgan, one of the best known citizens of Lock Four, died at his home, Front street, North Charleroi, Friday morning at 6:50 o'clock, from a nervous breakdown, aged 49 years. Mr. Morgan was born in Mason county, W. Va., and has been a resident of Lock Four for fifteen years. For the past 27 years he had been employed on the Monongahela river as a steamboat engineer, most of that time in the employ of the Vesta Coal company. Although of recent years he had been with the government at Lock Four. He is survived by his wife and five children, Milton, Melvin, Susan, Pearl and Agnes; also by his father, two brothers, Jasper, of Claiborne, and Francis, of Bellaire, Ohio; and five sisters, Mrs. W. J. Brown, of Ravenswood, W. Va., Mrs. Clarence Potts, and Mrs. Charles McElroy, of Bellaire, O., Mrs. Henry Keonemond, of Shady Side, and Mrs. Richard Mathias, of Martin's Ferry, O. Funeral services will be held at his late home, Lock Four, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with interment to follow in Monongahela cemetery.

FOR
DIRECTOR OF THE POOR

SAMUEL A. MCALMONT
A RESIDENT OF MT. PLEASANT
TOWNSHIP

TO THE TAXPAYERS OF WASHINGTON COUNTY:

I am a candidate for the nomination for the office of Director of the Poor of Washington county, subject to the rules of the Republican party.

I was born and reared in Mt. Pleasant township, have lived in that township all my life and have followed the occupation of farmer and stock raiser.

I am in the race to win if I can do it honorably and I promise if nominated at the primaries on September 19th and elected in November, that I will at all times work to the interest of the taxpayers and carry on a fair and economical administration.

If you believe me fit to fill the office, I ask you to support my candidacy at the coming primaries.

Samuel A. Calmont

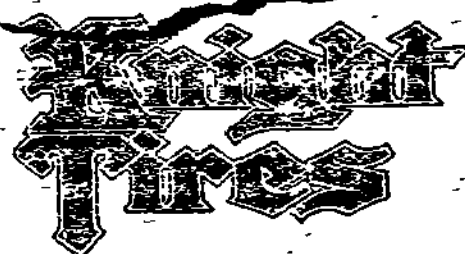

Mt. Pleasant Township.

Our Free Window Demonstration WILL SHOW YOU What "Panvar" Will Do

Restores automobiles, cars, boat, etc. to SHIPPING-DATE APPEARANCE.
Prevents checking, crazing, cracking and peeling.
Heat, weather, acid and rust resisting.
NOT a cleaning oil or polish, but a high-class REFINISHING VARNISH.
Anybody can use—Apply with brush, cheesecloth or sprayer.
Suited equally to wood, metal or leather.
Dries in 6 to 8 hours and—IT LASTS.
In Quality, Efficiency and Economy PANVAR challenges competition.
